WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING

So spectacularly written ... you feel you are on this journey with her: "I loved this book! In Bumping Down Highways, Jenni will take you on a vivid and inspiring journey as she travels the United States. She embarks on this life-changing adventure with her faithful companions, Saint and Emmi. Follow along as she falls in love with the new path she has chosen for her life. Conquering her fears and facing challenges head on." -- Tonya

Be Inspired! "I just started reading this book and find myself wanting to put everything else down so I can just continue reading about Jenni's adventures along with her two dogs! We do live in a beautiful country but get so wrapped up in our own little bubble. So far, her story has led me to think and wonder if I could have the courage to do what she has done. She starts out in an SUV and ends up in an RV! I can't wait to read how that came about and what other adventures she will come across!" -- Monica

"Bumping Down Highways is a compelling story of an executive who traded her office for an RV yet continued her career without missing a beat and I couldn't put it down. I was inspired and envious at how she worked on corporate deals with America's majestic vistas and most scenic locations as a backdrop. Jenni's visually descriptive style helps the reader experience her day-to-day life in this inspiring ever-changing environment." -- Bob Higley, CEO Upliftv
